AT HIS OLD HOME.

The President Spends Sunday at Indianapolis.

A STOP OF TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

He Attends Church and Receives His Old Friends and Neighbors During the Forenoon and Takes a Ride About the City in the Afternoon.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—President Harrison and party reached this city at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, after an uneventful run from St. Louis. The car in which the party travels was placed on a spur track near the Union station and the occupants did not make their appearance until 8 o'clock.

Mr. J. R. McKee, the president's son-in-law, accompanied by Mrs. McKee, their son Benjamin and other relatives and friends, came to the station and all were warmly and affectionately greeted by the president. The president, in company with the McKees, was at once driven to the residence of the latter on North Tennessee street, where breakfast was served.

Secretary Tracy, Marshal Ransdell and Mr. C. R. Bishop, of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, were driven to the Denison house, which they made their headquarters during the day. Private Secretary Halford was the guest of W. H. Smith, Secretary Tracy, accompanied by Marshal Ransdell, called at the McKee residence during the morning, and after a short time spent in conversation, the president, the secretary and the marshal proceeded to the First Presbyterian church, where they listened to a discourse by the pastor, Rev. M. L. Haines.

The president after the services took luncheon at the Denison with Secretary Tracy. He remained at the hotel about three hours during which time many people called to pay their respects. There was no formal reception and the visitors were greeted much in the same manner they would have been had they been calling upon Gen. Harrison in his law office.

Later in the afternoon the president and Secretary Tracy were driven about the city, and subsequently the former took tea at the McKee residence, where he spent the evening receiving calls of old friends and neighbors. At 10:30 the president and his party returned to their special car, in which they spent the night, departing for the east via the Big Four railroad at 6 a. m.

Brief stops will be made at a number of places in Indiana and Ohio.

During the day the president frequently asked for news of the condition of Justice Miller, and expressed the deepest solicitude as to the probable result of his illness.

IRON TRUSS FALLS.

Six Men Injured, Two of Them Quite Seriously.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Six men were injured, two of them quite seriously, at the works of the Illinois Steel company, at 1 o'clock yesterday. A number of the men were raising a huge iron truss when the guy pole snapped in two and the truss fell to the ground with a crash. Most of the men saved themselves by jumping, but six were struck by the heavy piece. One of the injured may die, as it is feared he has suffered internal injuries.

The following is a list of the injured:

Frank Smith, shoulder blade and several ribs broken; he may die.

Mike Nowarak, severe scalp wound.

John Cross, Patrick Navils, Michael Toole and John T. Dieter, slight scalp wounds and bruises.

Murderers Arrested.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 13.—On the 23d of September Isaac and Henry James brutally murdered David Davidson at Buena Vista, this county, and made their escape. Officers have been on their trail, and Friday Deputy Sheriff D. W. Gustin ran on to them near Ceredo, W. Va. Although alone, he drew his pistol and compelled them to surrender. He brought his prisoners here Saturday on the Bonanza and lodged them in jail.

Attempted Arson and Suicide.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—A Bozeman, Mont., special to The Tribune says: Early Sunday morning Herman Schultz, lessee of the Thomas mill, Bozeman, Mont., attempted to burn Nelson Story's mill, in order to destroy competition. He was discovered, but escaped and the fire extinguished. Later Schultz committed suicide by hanging himself with a handkerchief from the end of a freight car.

A Plea for Leniency.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 13.—John D. Nichols, late assistant postmaster at Berrien Springs, pleaded guilty in the United States court Saturday to embezzling postal money orders and will receive sentence this week. He is the son of one of the most prominent men in town. His father has made up the loss and strong influence is being brought to bear to have his sentence made easy.

Stock Train Wrecked.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—A stock train and a section train collided about noon near Lake City, Minn., on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road. About twenty cattle were killed, the engines were wrecked and Conductor William Day and Fireman M. C. Chamberlain, of the section train, are perhaps fatally injured. The stock train was four minutes slow and this caused the wreck.

Garret Ends in Murder.

BROCKTON, Tex., Oct. 13.—As the result of a quarrel over $3, W. L. Thompson stabbed and killed Will Massey. Thompson fled. The stabbing, it is claimed, was done in self-defense.

MURDER, NOT ACCIDENT.

Coroner Bodestone, of Orrville, O., Throws Under a Switch Engine.

AKRON, O., Oct. 13.—The killing of one man and the probably fatal injuring of another at Orrville Friday night, turns out to be a deliberate murder. Coroner Solon Bodestone, of Orrville, who was acting as policeman during the fair, had John Sweeney in custody on the depot platform. Sweeney saw a pal in the crowd and made a signal to him. The latter stepped up, and just as a switch engine was going by shoved Bodestone in front of it.

The coroner was terribly mangled and must have died instantly. He retained his grip on Sweeney as he went down, and the prisoner was also run over and badly cut up. He will probably die. The man who did the pushing was caught by the crowd and is now in jail. The mangled body of Coroner Bodestone was not recognized for some time, and persons who did not know he was at the depot started off to find him that he might set upon the dead body in his official capacity.

SONS OF VETERANS.

St. Louis Camps Disobey Orders and Turn Out to Meet the President.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—A Herald special from St. Joseph, Mo., says: H. J. Kline, colonel of the Missouri division of the Sons of Veterans, Friday telegraphed the camps in St. Louis that under no conditions should they turn out as an organization to receive President Harrison upon his arrival in that city. His commands were disobeyed, and he now announces that the officers refusing to recognize his orders will at once be suspended.

Col. Kline is a Republican, but he says that the organization of which he is colonel, is non-political, and if such things are allowed chaos in the order will be the result. On the other hand, the St. Louis Sons of Veterans claim that their acts were not political, and that they turned out simply as one of the great organizations of the country to pay their respects to its chief executive. They will appeal to the commander-in-chief.

MRS. COWLES WANTS A DIVORCE.

The Hale-Cowles Sensation Revived at Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 13.—Shortly before the trial of C. C. Hale, for the shooting of Eugene H. Cowles, began at Montreal, Mrs. Cowles withdrew the petition she had previously filed for divorce which attacked Mr. Cowles' character. This was understood here to imply a desire that the case against her brother, Mr. Hale, might not be pressed. Mr. Cowles, at any rate, responded by instructing his attorneys not to insist upon a severe punishment, and Hale was left off with a fine.

As soon as the parties returned from Montreal, Mrs. Cowles obtained an injunction restraining her husband from obtaining any money from the Cowles estate, and Saturday she filed a new petition for divorce, which reasserts the charges made in the first. Mr. Cowles, who lives at Lockport, N. Y., happened to be in the city Saturday, and the papers were served on him.

FATAL SMASHUP.

One Man Killed, One Fatally Injured and Four Seriously Hurt.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 13.—At Como station in the suburbs of St. Paul, on the Great Northern line, a fatal smashup occurred last night. An Omaha train loaded with live stock collided with an East Minnesota bound for Duluth.

James Hill was killed, one man fatally injured and four seriously wounded as follows:

William Johnston, of Washington, stock man, fatally injured.

Absolem Anderson, fireman, crushed and bruised.

James English, brakeman, burned and back broken.

Frank Young, conductor, cut about head and ribs broken.

Thirty freight cars were demolished and both engines completely wrecked.

Fatal Explosion.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.—S. L. Milliken, a fireman, and John McNeerney, an iron weigher, were seriously injured by the explosion of a boiler and an explosion of natural gas at Hayden's rolling mill Saturday afternoon. Milliken's face, hands and arms were burned black and blood flowed from gashes on the head and face. The flesh dangled in strips from his left arm. He was also injured internally. McNeerney was extricated from a pile of brick and beams. He was also badly injured. Several other workmen received slight hurts.

Blind Organist Injured.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Professor Bischoff, the blind organist of the Congregation church, and the composer of several pieces of music of National popularity, was knocked down by a horse driven by a reckless driver last night. The wheels of the carriage passed over his body. He was rendered unconscious by the shock but soon recovered by the aid of restoratives. He was badly injured and his physician reports him as being in a critical condition.

Saloon Raided.

CALISTOGA, Cal., Oct. 13.—Near the Bradford quicksilver mine, in Lake county, Friday evening, several masked men raided a saloon kept by Steven Rich and wife. As soon as the raiders entered the place general shooting began, and Mrs. Rich was fatally wounded. Rich was also wounded, and W. R. McGuire, one of the raiders, was shot dead.

Negro Lynched.

HOMER, La., Oct. 13.—Frank Wooten, colored, who confessed to setting fire to the residence of Dr. Pace, at Athens, on Oct. 9, was lynched last night. His body was found this morning swinging from the limb of a tree.

INTO A RIVER.

Five Persons Drowned by the Capsizing of a Boat.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—A special to The Ledger from Kinkora, N. J., says: Five persons were drowned in the river near the sluice and the Knickerbocker ice houses at this place yesterday by the capsizing of a boat. The names of those drowned are: Solomon Fletcher, aged 32; John Fletcher, aged 23; Angelo Fletcher, aged 24, brothers; Cheafus Merry, aged 43; and Alonzo Cannon, aged 22.

All five lived here and were employed at Murrell Dobbins' brick yard. The men were bringing twenty-three large piling, each about fourteen feet long, from Silver Lake ice house in an open boat with a single sail. In attempting to make land between the ice house and the bowsprit of the boat struck one of the dogs of the former. The shock and the swift current of the water's sluice caused the boat to careen and the heavy pilings to shift to one side, overturning the craft. The men sank at once and the attempts to save their lives by on-lookers were unavailing. The bodies of Angelo Fletcher and Cheafus Merry were recovered.

DIRECT FROM IRELAND.

Dillon and O'Brien's Advance Agent Already in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Among the passengers on the steamer Alaska which arrived here yesterday, was Mr. T. P. Gill, member of parliament, who comes here to make advance preparations for the American tour of Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien. Concerning the disappearance of Dillon and O'Brien Mr. Gill said last night that the charges against them having been brought and their trial delayed solely for the purpose of preventing their coming to America, they resolved to come whether or no. Accordingly they left in a yacht belonging to a prominent member of parliament and made their way to Havre, whence they will sail in a French steamer for New York, arriving here probably next Sunday.

As to the reported famine in Ireland, Mr. Gill said the outlook for the potato crop was bad and it would probably be a failure, but at present there was no great suffering among the people.

DESPERATE CONVICT.

Handcuffed and Shackled, He Jumps From a Train.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Edward F. Rich, who is under sentence to serve in Auburn prison eight years and six months for burglary and larceny, made a desperate and almost fatal attempt to escape from Deputy Sheriff Wolcott by jumping from the New York Central flyer.

The attempt was made just the other side of Canastota. Rich was handcuffed and shackled, but at his own request was allowed to walk in the aisle of the car. Edging towards the door, and before Wolcott could reach him he darted to the platform and sprang from the train, which was moving at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The train was stopped as soon as possible. Wolcott found his prisoner lying insensible and apparently dead along-side the track. Rich soon revived and was brought to the prison in this city. He was taken to the prison hospital.

Blew His Head Off.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Walter A. Kernerchan, a wealthy young club man, committed suicide in his room in the Delta Chi club at 5 o'clock this morning by blowing off the top of his head with a revolver. He imagined himself afflicted with numerous physical ailments and has employed several doctors to treat him. The suicide was a member of the Calumet club and the New York Jockey club. He left no letter to give a clew to his deed. Some of his friends say he has lately been troubled with insomnia which may have affected his mind.

Arrested on a Charge of Fraud.

MARION, Ind., Oct. 13.—Saturday the sheriff of Plymouth, Ind., arrested J. F. Williams on a charge of fraud. Williams came here from Plymouth last Wednesday and represented himself as the agent of the Chicago Loan and Investment company. The officer who made the arrest states that Williams was discharged by the above company a year ago, but that he had since been doing business in their name, pocketing the proceeds, and that in this way he has swindled the people of Indiana out of $3,000.

Shot the Girl He Wanted to Marry.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Oct. 13.—August Schultz, a prominent young farmer of Franklin township, went to the home of his sweetheart, Lucy Boegemann, yesterday and asked her to marry him. She refused, and he shot her in the breast and instantly blew his own brains out. Hopes are entertained for the young lady's recovery. The young man for some time had been madly in love, but his affection was not reciprocated.

Prisoners Escape.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.—Shortly before noon Saturday eight prisoners, mostly bums and common drunks, confined in the city prison, escaped from the south cell tier by prying apart the bars of the cage. The men were taking their exercise in the corridor, when they made their exit to the floor below and rushed out liberty. None of them were recaptured.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 13.—Robert Schilling, the well known labor agitator, was nominated for congress Saturday night by the Union Labor party in the Fourth congressional district.

Killed by the Cars.

MARION, Ind., Oct. 13.—J. M. Hawkins, colored, an employee of the malleable iron works, was run over by the cars Saturday and killed.

FIRE IN A HOTEL.

Three Men Burned to Death in Chicago.

ONE WOMAN FATALLY INJURED.

The Fire Caused by the Explosion of a Kerosene Lamp in the Hallway—A Panic Among the Guests—The Building Saved From Total Destruction—Other Fire Losses.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Three men lost their lives and a woman was fatally injured at a small fire which occurred shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning in J. R. Putnam's European hotel at No. 162 and 165 East Adams street.

The dead are: Edward Payton, colored, 26 years of age, porter of the hotel.

Thomas E. Dowler, of New Orleans. H. Kirk Salmes, of Calumet, Mich. Dowler was a professional gymnast and was formerly a teacher of athletics in New Orleans. Of Salmes little is known but he was supposed to be a traveling salesman.

Mrs. Minnie Robinson jumped from the fourth story to the sidewalk, breaking both legs and horribly crushing her side. She died a few hours after being taken to the hospital.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp on the fourth floor. The burning oil set fire to the stairway and soon a sheet of flame burst from the windows. An alarm was immediately turned in and a second alarm followed five minutes later. The guests of the house were awakened by the noise of the fire engines and rushed from their rooms to find the hall way filled with dense smoke.

The scantily attired inmates groped about to find a way of escape. Several were cool-headed enough to resort to the fire escapes that runs down the front of the building. These were mostly men, and they got out safely. In the hallway, struggling and blinded by the smoke, were several women. Mrs. Robinson, with her child, was among them. She became crazed with fright and, rushing to the window, leaped to the pavement with her child in her arms. Her body was frightfully mangled, and she was just alive when the patrol wagon took her to the hospital.

During her fearful flight through the air she held onto the baby, and wonderful to relate, the little one was entirely uninjured. When the mother fell her body acted as a cushion to break the fall for the child.

At 2 o'clock the fire was under control and the firemen began to search the house. In a room on the fourth floor, Edward Peyton, a colored porter of the hotel, was found burned to a crisp. The search was continued and the firemen soon found in another room on the same floor, the charred bodies of the other two men who had been caught in the trap and burned to death. The bodies were taken to Klander's morgue. The total loss on buildings and contents will not exceed $5,000.

Brick Block Destroyed.

LA HARPE, Ill., Oct. 13.—A fire started in a saloon in the Gouchner brick block early yesterday morning, destroying the block and several stores of goods. The loss is about $15,000. The insurance, if any, cannot be learned.

Steamer Burned.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13.—The steamer John E. Tieger was burned to the water's edge while lying at her dock Sunday morning. She had been laid up for repairs and was discovered to be on fire at an early hour. Loss, $40,000.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 13.—President Byrne and Mr. Parsons met here Saturday night, and made an agreement to govern the world's championship games. It was agreed to play a friendly series of games not to exceed nine in number. It was also understood that the club winning a majority of such games shall be entitled to be called the world's champions of 1891. The umpires agreed upon to officiate are John McQuade, selected by the Louisville club, and Wesley Curry, selected by the Brooklyn club.

The following is the schedule of games: In Louisville, Thursday, Oct. 16; Friday, Oct. 17; Saturday, Oct. 18; Monday, Oct. 20; Tuesday, Oct. 21, to be left as an open date. In Brooklyn, Thursday, Oct. 23; Friday, Oct. 24; Saturday, Oct. 25, and Monday, Oct. 27. If the ninth game is necessary to decide the series the place and date will be determined hereafter.

Echo of the Central Strike.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Justice Grogan, of West Troy, discharged John Kiernan, charged with placing obstructions on the Central Hudson railroad, near Karners, Aug. 29. The court held that there was no evidence before him that a crime had been committed, and even had the confession of Thomas Kain, Kiernan's alleged accomplice, been admitted, it would have not been sufficient. The motion made by Kiernan's counsel to commit F. A. Harrington, assistant superintendent of the Central Hudson, Mohawk division, for perjury, was denied. Mr. Harrington made the complaint against Kiernan.

Crushed to Death in a Tunnel.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—In a collision in the bridge tunnel, Saturday, between a light engine and a freight train, Benjamin Ingraham and John Livingston, employees of the Bridge and Tunnel company, who were riding on the forward foot-board of the light engine, were crushed to death, their bodies being cut and mangled out of all shape of humanity.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,
HON. THOMAS H. PAYNTER, of Greenup County.

THE Republican is still bawling over the loss of its Kentucky Central pass. Poor little fellow! Don't cry. Maybe Sam Morse will relent and return the pass some of these days.

GOVERNOR HILL has been induced to take a hand in the fight against McKinley in the Canton, O., Congressional district. He is booked for three speeches toward the last of this month. Republicans are desperate and will stop at nothing to save the father of their present tariff bill from defeat. But the Democrats of that district are dead bent on wearing William's political scalp next month.

WITH forty-eight of the largest election districts still to hear from, the police census of New York foots up 1,576,231, over 63,000 more than Depopulator Porter's total count for the entire city. This is convincing evidence of the utter worthlessness and unreliability of the recent census. It is believed that it will be conclusively shown that Porter's enumerators overlooked nearly 200,000 people in the City of New York.

Give His Name.

"Can't you fellows help us defeat that mountain hyena we have nominated for Congress up in our district?"

This language appeared in the Maysville Republican last Saturday in reference to the Democratic nominee for Congress. The Republican says it was uttered by a distinguished Mason County Democrat and office-holder.

The Republican is mistaken. No Democrat ever used such language as the above in reference to Tom Paynter. No Democrat would utter such language. Some individual who may be posing as a Democrat may have uttered the words.

If any man placed in office by Democratic votes has been talking this way he should be asked to step down and out. Mason County Democrats have no use for such a traitor and renegade, and will take pleasure in retiring him, no matter who he is.

Will the Republican please give his name?

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Mr. James Small and wife arrived home last evening after a visit at Covington.

Mrs. Mary Hutchison, of Memphis, Nebraska, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sam Chunn.

DEMOCRATS.

Our State Central Committee
Points to Our Grand Victory in August.

And Appeals to Every One to Do His Duty Next Month—Get Out
a Full Vote.

At a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee last Friday the following address was issued:

"To the Democrats of Kentucky: Your committee beg to congratulate you upon the result of your work in August, your official majority being 54,707. This has been achieved by party unity throughout the State; by recognizing the right of members of the party to protect themselves by organizations of their own within party lines, and by a united effort of Democrats of all shades of opinion in defense of Democratic principles.

"There has been no time in the history of the Republic when your effort was more needed than now. The tyranny of the majority in Congress appeals to every liberty-loving citizen to forget local differences and individual preferences in the protection of the interests of the people.

"There should be no Republican allowed to go to the National Congress from this Commonwealth. The issues involved are too serious to justify the people of Kentucky in any Congressional district in being represented by a Republican.

"The enemy rely upon your lethargy, growing out of the overwhelming majority in the August election, and your committee appeals to you to go to work in earnest. Organize clubs in every voting precinct in the State; embrace in these all resident Democrats, no matter to what organization they may belong; poll your precinct vote and send it to this committee see your neighbors who are insensible of their danger and send from Kentucky an unbroken Democratic representation.

"You have but little time for work and the 4th of November should see every lover of his country at the polls voting for Democracy.

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS.

That's the Amount the Passage of the McKinley Bill Put in the Pockets of a Syndicate.

A race across the ocean from Rotterdam, Holland, to New York, for a stake of $1,690,000, was quietly arranged by a wealthy New York syndicate early in the present month and finished on Monday last.

The slow-going freight steamer Spaarnadam, of the Netherland-American line, sailed from Rotterdam for New York on September 16, with 6,500 bales of Sumatra leaf tobacco, consigned to the New York syndicate, composed of these firms: A. Cohn & Co., Schroeder & Son, Gustav Falk & Brother and Cullmans & Rosenbaum and 300 bales consigned to Cohn & Leopold.

The big consignment was worth, independent of any duties, $1,300,000; the small one, $40,000. There is at present a duty of $90 per bale on such tobacco; the new duty, to be applied by the McKinley bill to all such tobacco imported and not yet in bond on and after October 1, is to be $340 per bale; so that by getting over with their cargo before October 1, the syndicate and the outside firm to which a portion of the tobacco was consigned cleared over $1,690,000 in duties, not to mention the profit that may accrue

We have seen other governments arise, and then crumble and fall beneath the unrelenting hand of adverse fate; we have seen victors' wreaths and monarchs' gems buried in one common dust; we have seen great wars occur, when, meeting in battle array, the serried hosts with the deadly engines of modern warfare, have drenched lands in human gore; dignified Senators, learned in the deep mysteries of statecraft, have met in the arena of discussion upon this interminable theme, and like noble Romans waged worded war, until the very earth seemed to tremble beneath the fury of the fray of these giants of battle until the Protectionist clutched in exhaustion for support, and the Free-trader reeled breathlessly away.

Amid these conflicts of time and changes of fortune, the question of tariff has kept aloft its stolid form like a column of adamant, as if in defiance of the wisdom of man.

At last, however, it has been given to us to find and offer a solution of this question that has so long defied the genius of statesmen.

We have settled the question!

We have stripped the tariff from Boots and Shoes! At our mammoth SPOT CASH SHOE STORE is beyond cavil or doubt the most immense stock in the State, and our prices are so low that all must admit that the tariff has gone glimmering from them, as our prices are merely nominal.

Come and see our unlimited lines of Boots and Shoes. Our qualities are the best that material and art can combine. We guarantee all our sales. Come and see us; we will save you money. At the SPOT CASH SHOE STORE.

from the advanced prices that will follow a shutting out of imports.

The above is taken from the Western Tobacco Journal. Who will pay this $1,690,000? Not the foreigners by a long shot.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

MAYS LICK.

The Flemingsburg Brass Band gave us some fine music during the fair.

The little son of Judge C. A. Howard is very low with consumption, and is a great sufferer. Washington Small, who had been here since the death of his brother Walter, left last Thursday morning for his home in Kansas, to the regret of many.

Frank Goeppka, of Oklahoma, is visiting his mother in this place, Mrs. Morrissey. He is looking well and reports everything on a level. He left here twenty years ago.

Miss Jennie Evans, one of our most admired ladies, left last week to visit some of her sisters in Illinois and other points in the West. She has many warm friends here aside from her relatives who were very loth to part with her even for a few months. May the Guardian Angel watch over her during her sojourn, is the prayer of all those behind.

RAMBLER.

He Has Something More to Say of Maysville and Maysville People.

"Rambler" has been absent some time, on a trip through the busy, bustling, boundless West, but he is back in Maysville once more. I notice that in previous articles mistakes were inadvertently made. Mr. Newton Cooper's building on Front street was reported five stories high when it is six, and the depth is 145 feet, when it was reported 140. The Cox row of buildings along Market streets consists of nine dwellings instead of six.

East of Market street deserves mention, but I can not write fast enough to keep ahead of the west. You can't help observing that Curley is trying to curl up over Harry Taylor and Red Robinson in the way of fancy attractions, while right next door to him, D. Hunt & Son have quietly built an addition to the rear of their store-room of twenty-five feet, three stories high, furnishing ventilation and light so much needed to the sprightly book-keeper, polite lady clerks and admiring customers. The ceiling is new and made of solid ash, while the front has been modernized, plain single grass put in place of the old s&lo, and when the coat of paint is put on as Mr. Hunt says "the three beauties lying along side of their neighbor will not be ashamed of their company." It is a pleasure to note these improvements, for if you travel all over the country you will not find such an advancement anywhere else in towns of the size of Maysville.

As I passed down Second to Wall to get a stimulant of soda and Blue Lick is a legitimate way, the house of P. B. McClanahan attracted attention, and it was the new modern windows in front that caused the attention. On entering, I find Mr. McClanahan has stolen a march in the way of improvement by adding a substantial brick extension, two stories high, to the rear of his grocery and dwelling, which now gives him plenty of room and is an improvement worthy of commendation.

There are a number of new iron fronts put up all over the city and which deserve mention, but it is too tedious to particularize. They are great improvements on the old brick and wooden columns that have heretofore supported the superstructure of the buildings. I notice right here where I stand a fair sample of same, the two buildings where Simon Nelson, a late arrival in the way of business, and Andy Honan, his neighbor, a not very late arrival, have new handsome fronts and handsome stores, too. Both houses belong to Mr. Nelson, and are models of beauty both as to exterior and inside in tasty arrangement.

I must not forget to notice that Jack Wadsworth, although he is in the revenue department, strives still to be a man of advancement. He has put down one of his improved hexagonal concrete block pavements in front of Robinson's cigar place. This pavement is a beauty. The cement pavement laid adjoining this one in front of Harry Taylor's and T. J. Curley's are good representations of substantiality and were put down by Mr. Curley himself, which goes far towards insuring their durability.

I cannot finish this rambling communication without reference to E. L. Martin, who went several years ago to Kansas City from Maysville, a poor but honest man. The writer had occasion to call at his business stand and found his house, lately built by himself, to be 150 feet deep by 80 wide and six stories high. It reminded me of Mr. Cooper's building on our Front street. Mr. Martin, although having business on hands with parties who were waiting to take their turn to see him in regular order, and who transacts more business in an hour than a dozen so called business chaps who think business amounts to flourish can do in a day, is a quiet, mild man, with no ostentation or aim at tremendous appearances whatever. But he accomplishes a great deal.

I was admitted to his presence simply on announcement that I was from Maysville. As soon as I entered he arose and on my addressing him, although himself deeply interested in examining some papers before him with a real estate agent, he immediately discharged everybody who was waiting to see him, saying to them: "Here is a Maysville friend. I must see him. I will be here at 3 o'clock." He invited me to follow him. Quietly giving a few instructions to clerks, of whom there were quite a number, we walked through his great business house which, from basement to roof, is full of free whisky. This part of the business he pays no attention to, leaving it to his partner, Mr. Ferin, and his son-in-law. Passing out of the house, after a sample of ten-year-old McBrayer had been dispensed with, he said that his whole time was now occupied in business outside of the whisky department, viz: With real estate, railroads and manufactures. As we proceeded on our way to a new depot he was building, he said that a fire had occurred the night before causing him a loss of $15,000 above insurance. Said he: "I do not mind the money loss, but I feel for the operatives." Arriving at his new depot grounds he simply gave instructions to his foreman to have an estimate made that evening of the cost of rebuilding the factory, and have same done at once. Mr. Martin is a decided improvement on some business style we have in Maysville. The business he is engaged in amounts to millions per year, his whisky sales alone amounting to from $60,000 to $80,000 per month. Yet he manages to be an easy, quiet gentleman of few words, pleasant at all times and very effective in the execution of business.

Portsmouth's Harbor.

It is predicted by river men that in five years it will be impossible for a steamboat to land at Portsmouth in low water. This harbor was once known as one of the finest on the Ohio. But the Government has lately put in a dyke and ice piers above the city, and the eddy thus formed is filling up the harbor with mud. The Times says when the water subsided from the late rise, the mud lay on the grade from five to ten inches in thickness, making it necessary for a man to use stilts in order to reach the ferryboat, the wharf-boat or a steamboat.

A QUAIL that made the long flight from the Ohio hills Saturday afternoon alighted in front of Mrs. C. W. Bierley's confectionery and restaurant and when some boys started after it, it ran into the store where it was captured.

AT A RIPE OLD AGE,

Mr. D. A. Richardson Peacefully
 Passes Away—Brief Sketch of the Deceased.

Mr. D. A. Richardson is dead. This venerable citizen of Maysville passed away shortly after 8 o'clock this morning at the family residence on Third street.

For a year or so he had been in declining health. He became more feeble as the summer waned, and was at last confined to his home.

Recently his condition became very critical, and it was realized a few days ago that the end was fast approaching. This morning at the hour named, surrounded by his family he breathed his last. His end was a peaceful one.

Deceased was a native of Virginia, but spent most of his life in this city. He was in the eighth-fifth year of his age.

For a long time after coming to this county Mr. Richardson resided on a farm in the East End, most of this land being now embraced in the town limits of Chester. In 1865 he engaged in the mercantile business in the house on Market street now occupied by Rogers' wholesale liquor establishment.

Afterwards he moved to the northeast corner of Third and Market, where he conducted a large wholesale grocery business until 1881, when he sold an interest in the establishment to Mr. M. C. Russell, who had been connected with the house as salesman and bookkeeper from the start. Mr. Richardson continued in the business as a member of the firm of Richardson & Russell until 1886, when he disposed of all his interest in the firm to his partner. He was careful and conservative in his business methods and amassed a fortune.

Mr. Richardson was married twice. His last wife survives him, and he leaves two children—a son, Mr. W. H. Richardson of New York, by his first marriage, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas A. Keith of this city, by his last marriage.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence. Services by Rev. J. E. Wright and Rev. J. M. Evans.

For the Farmer

In Fayette fat hogs are held at 4¢, but butchers will not offer more than 4 Yearling steers are firm at 3½ cents, two year-olds at 3½ cents.

Tobacco that was crowded in the barns has been house-burning badly during the present warm spell. One or two instances are reported where it has been rendered almost worthless.

Old corn seems to sell very rapidly throughout the central portion of the State at $2.50 per barrel in the crib. Some new corn changed hands at Mt. Sterling at $1.75 last week.—Danville Advocate.

The total corn crop for each of the past eleven years shows that the total farm value of a crop is not reduced by a reduction of the yield. The corn crop of 1881 was the smallest that had been produced in this country since 1874, but its home value was greater than any crop of the past decade, with the single exception of the year following, when prices were still high. On the other hand, last year's crop was the largest ever raised, yet its farm value was the least of any crop in the past ten years.—New York Star.

Grand Duke Nicholas Hopelessly Insane.

RESULT OF A MILITARY DISPLAY

He Has Long Been a Sufferer, But Russia's Last Military Maneuvers Entirely Unbalanced His Mind, and His Physicians Pronounce it a Hopeless Case.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 13.—It has transpired that at the close of the military maneuvers in Volhynia the Grand Duke Nicholas, chief in command of the army, suddenly became insane. His mental derangement is the result of disease from which he has long been a sufferer, and the effects of which were aggravated by the strain incident to the maneuvers. The physicians pronounce his case a hopeless one.

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS.

Grand Duke Nicholas is 22 years of age and very tall, as all the Romanoffs are. He has been educated in true military fashion. By virtue of his position as czarovich he is ataman of the Cossack troops and wears the Cossack uniform.

A Woman's Jump or Fall.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The wife of Mr. Arthur O'Connor, member of parliament for East Donegal, was found last night lying in a pool of blood in an unfrequented part of one of the London suburbs. It was evident that she had jumped or fallen from an overhead railway station near the spot. She was severely injured, and has remained unconscious ever since found. The lady was not long ago under treatment for mental aberration, but was thought to have been restored to her normal condition. It is supposed that in a sudden fit of insanity she wandered away from home, and either attempted suicide or accidentally fell from the station.

Search for Dillon and O'Brien.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 13.—G. vernment detectives have been patrolling the harbor for two days in boats and searching all the tugs and tenders with passengers for the steamers Umbria and Wisconsin aboard. Mail trains arriving from Cork are also searched. It is evident that the authorities do not think Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon have yet succeeded in leaving the country and hope to intercept them. The steamships themselves have also been thoroughly searched. Mr. W. J. Lane, M. P. for East Cork, and Mr. John Deasy, M. P. for West Mayo, boarded the Umbria here yesterday. Their movements aroused much curiosity.

Social Congress.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The great social congress at Halle convened yesterday. The sessions are held in the Hofgaenger restaurant, which is elaborately decorated within and without, and floats a huge red flag from the housetop. The delegates have met with an enthusiastic reception, and the outcome of their deliberations is awaited with intense interest. The police do not seem to be taking any unusual notice of the meeting, and the local military garrison has been ordered to remain confined in the barracks.

Protests From Thousands.

BERNE, Oct. 13.—Thousands of Liberals are flocking into Bellinzona, to protest against the restoration of the ultra-montane cantonal government. The Federal cavalry has dispersed the crowds. As the Liberals are unarmed, no fighting has occurred.

O'Mahoney is Ill.

TIPPERARY, Oct. 13.—There is no longer any doubt that Mr. O'Mahoney is seriously ill. It will be necessary either to omit his name from the indictment of the Nationalists now on trial or to adjourn the case pending the result of his illness.

A Proposed Ship Canal.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 13.—The Russian government intends to construct a ship canal connecting the Dnieper and Dwina rivers, and forming a line of communication between the Arctic ocean, and the Black sea, and Mediterranean.

AFTER ELEVEN YEARS.

Girl Who Disappeared from Home at 16 Comes Back a Maniac.

LOGANSPOUT, Ind., Oct. 13.—Eleven years ago Maggie, the 16-year-old daughter of Michael Twomey, a respected citizen of Logansport, suddenly disappeared from her home. No trace of her whereabouts was ever gained and she was given up as dead.

Saturday night, however, she appeared at her father's residence, a raving maniac. She was taken in, but can give no account of herself or her wanderings. She is very violent, and it became necessary to place her in confinement. Nothing has been discovered about her giving the faintest clue to the mystery of her disappearance and long absence.

Father and Son Kill Each Other.

LIMA, O., Oct. 13.—John Schaeffer quarreled with his step-father Saturday, and knocked him down. The father, while down, pulled a revolver and shot John in the breast, inflicting a probably fatal wound. John then pulled his revolver and shot his father twice, killing him instantly.

Drowned While Drunk.

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Oct. 13.—James Pease, the oldest resident of San Mateo county, was drowned here yesterday afternoon. He was under the influence of liquor and fell from a boat into the river. Pease claimed to be 98 years of age and to have come to California in 1818. He then deserted the Hudson bay ship in San Francisco bay and took refuge on the mission of Dolores. Documents prove that he was in the state in 1835.

THE "TABLE D'HOTER."

He and His Ways Are a Distinct Product of New York Civilization.

A new bit of New Yorkese dialect is table d'hote, applied to a man who regularly and fearlessly eats public dinners served in courses. The name is a purely New York one, for no other city in the Union serves table d'hote dinners in the same way that this town does. Chicago never had an evening table d'hote dinner until two or three years ago. The people in that town take their dinner early in the afternoon, between 12 and 2 o'clock, in the good old fashioned way that holds good throughout the west.

So with the other western cities, St. Louis, Cincinnati and all the rest clear out to San Francisco, where the American traveler again strikes the evening course dinner in that cosmopolitan town. Boston and Philadelphia have a very few table d'hote restaurants of that kind, but Brooklyn, with all its 800,000 eaters, hasn't a single one to its name.

New York, on the other hand, is honey-combed with them. It requires a cosmopolitan and boarding house hating people to make table d'hote restaurants successful. It requires a vast army of people with demi-Bohemian instincts, who roam about from one eating house to another, seeking in this way a freedom and variety they could find in no other way. Here one finds every variety of cooking, from the Chinese of Mott street through the Swiss of Fulton street and the Spanish of Maiden lane up to the French of Bleecker street and the Italian and Hungarian of upper New York, of Broadway and Union Square.

You can get a seven course dinner at 6 o'clock at night as far down town as Fulton street, and as far up town as One Hundred and Twenty-fifth. You can pay almost any price from thirty cents up to $1.50, but the average is seventy-five cents without wine or $1 with a pint of claret. No table d'hote place can live that does not average at least sixty customers per night. So one can see at a glance the great number of diners they serve.

But everybody who eats a table d'hote dinner isn't a table d'hote by a great deal. A man doesn't become a table d'hote at once; he grows into it. He begins by nibbling at the bait, takes a dinner now and then, and little by little the now and then merges into every night until, before he knows it, he blossoms out into a confirmed table d'hote. Then the waiters all know him as their prey and treat him accordingly.

There are certain signs about the table d'hote that mark him out to the most casual observer. He comes in with an air of proprietorship, and even when afar off the waiter pulls out a particular chair in a particular corner for him. He calls the white aproned servitor Alphonse and asks confidentially which of the two soups is the better. He gets an extra supply of salad, not out of the mass which is already dressed, but a fresh variety which he dresses himself. He is very loyal to his restaurant, and ropes in young men who are yet new in the ways and wiles of table d'hoteism. He tells them it is "the best dinner in town for the money."

This becomes a catchword with him. He sticks to the restaurant for four months and then tries another, to which he is just as loyal. As long as he patronizes any place that place serves the "best dinner in New York for the money." Three restaurants a year, ranging from Sixth avenue to Broadway, he tries, and in two years is back again and goes over the same ground. He rarely reforms and is always a bachelor. Once wedded to the table d'hote he never marries, and never knows the delights of home cooking. The table d'hote is a distinct product of New York civilization and is growing in numbers with the growth of the town and its attendant growth of bachelorhood.—New York World.

"Gath" on Marriage.

Matrimony with the Englishman is not the solemn, settling thing it is with American men. They regard living, having a home and bringing up a family as something due to man, whereas we regard almost everything as due to the woman. There is Henry Clews in New York, who failed about the time of the panic of 1873, but who has made another fortune. He met a fine young girl who appeared in Washington society as the niece of the Belknaps.

They have several children, and the woman likes the man because he is successful, and the man is attached to his wife because she is beautiful and fruitful. In fact, marriage in public station differs but little from marriage in any station. On the whole, people are happiest who marry abreast of their condition. A very intelligent man or woman is unhappy with a stupid, unintelligent one of the other sex. Where the man has no social taste his wife, who possesses it, forms other combinations, and in a measure leaves him out. If they are about equal in general training and notions they match better during a long life than if one is always growing and the other never growing.—Gath's Letter.

Trouble with a Badger.

Friday morning Master G. A. Wallace saw in a field what he took to be a hare, but as it did not run he went up and kicked it, when it rose and sprang furiously toward him. He now thought it was a bear, and made good time for the fence, where he got a picket and returned to the attack. The boy was accompanied by a pet goat, and as he laid on the blows with a picket the goat butted and hooked the enemy and they soon dispatched it. The creature proved to be a badger, and weighed twenty-seven pounds. When the boy would strike the badger it would spring at him, and then the goat would receive the charge, butting vigorously. The badger's claws were over an inch long, and the lad, who is only 12 years old, was fortunate in escaping.—San Rafael Journal.

LECTURE.

I propose to try to help raise a fund to erect a monument in memory of Lincoln, Davis, Grant and Lee. It is time to bury the bloody shirt so deep that it can never again rise to the surface. Let us, my good people, endeavor to do something to help restore that unity of which we were once proud to boast. I believe that the first step to be taken is to build a monument somewhere near Richmond, in memory of this great quartette. I will deliver a lecture on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th, at the Christian Church in Germantown. Tuesday, Oct. 14th, at the court house in Maysville and Wednesday, Oct. 15th, at the Presbyterian Church in Maysville. Lecture to commence at 8 o'clock p. m. Admission, 50 cents.

Let all good people who are interested in restoring peace, harmony and good will toward one another, be present at these lectures at their respective places, the proceeds of which are to form the nucleus of this fund.

The title of this lecture is "The Code of the Great Quartette; or the Healing of an Old Sore."
